JESD SEEKS A PRECEDENT

An Exciting Challenge to Usual Procedure

By PHYLLIS CLEMENTS

AN EXCITING challenge to customary procedure, involving Woodrow Wilson School in Daly City, has been undertaken by the Jefferson Elementary School District.

It's the district's attempt to tear down Woodrow Wilson—rather than rehabilitate the building—to bring the school up to current educational standards.

Richard A. Foster, district superintendent, explained it this way:

"If the state allows us to tear down the old structure instead of attempting to rehabilitate — the cost of rehabilitation would exceed complete rebuilding — it will be the first time they have done so." And he added:

"A precedent will be set that other school districts in California may well be interested in using."

THE SITUATION is complex and involves elements of both financial and educational state policies.

The Jefferson district builds its schools on a state-aided formula.

This means the district is bonded to capacity and is therefore entitled to use state funds on a grant-loan basis.

This also means that certain restrictions result that districts with more money do not need to consider.

Chief restriction thus far has been that schools in state-aided districts that meet the requirements of the earthquake-proof law (the Field Act of 1933) cannot be razed —only rehabilitated.

Wealthier districts decide to tear down or remodel on the basis of economy and educational utility.

Because Daly City can only afford to build schools with state aid, under the existing law it is asked to ignore certain sound economic and educational factors. Woodrow Wilson school is a precise example.

No grant-loan school fulfilling Field Act requirements, has been torn down in California to date.

"Our argument is that although the school meets the Field Act — it was built in 1935 by the WPA — it does not meet the educational and aesthetic standards necessary for present-day education requirements," said Foster.

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL

"The Wilson School, for example, has 710 square feet of space per classroom. The present staandard is approximately 960 square feet."

The superintendent invited anyone interested in the matter to walk through the building to see why the district feels compelled to negotiate for a new interpretation of the law.

OVER THE past 18 months, the district has acquired 19 pieces of property adjacent to the school. These are needed to proceed with the district's plans for the school. Cost of the land totaled $230,000.

Excepting one parcel, all the property was acquired by negotiation. The last segment needed and the only disputed parcel, owned by Marjana and Anita Saguar of 179 Knowles Avenue, was obtained through condemnation proceedings settled last month.

The school's two old buildings, plus a newer unit of four classrooms and a multi-use room built in 1949, stand on a site bounded by Miriam Street and Santa Barbara Avenue, Vista Grande Avenue and a line running parallel behind Knowles.

Enrollment of children in kindergarten through third grades totals 580.

The old building considered controversial is the one facing Miriam, originally designed for classroom use.

The other on Santa Barbara was built for district administrative offices and while it presently is used for classrooms can be eliinated without question, Foster noted.

THE DISTRICT'S plans call for demolishing the two old structures, replacing them with 12 new classrooms and redeveloping the entire play-

LAGUNA PLAN ASSAILED

Final Vote Set For N. County Schools Unity

By RON BATES

The San Mateo County Committee on School Reorganization will come to a final decision May 7 on a proposal to unify five North County school districts into one.

The committee scheduled a vote on the proposal after a public hearing last week in which two Pacifica officials sharply disagreed with the Laguna Salada School District's opposition to the proposal.

Pacifica Councilman Fred Ballew in person and Councilwoman-elect Grace McCarthy by letter informed the committee they favored the committee's plan.

The hearing, conducted in the Little Theatre of Westmoor High School, was the second to be held in the North County. About 75 persons attended.

A previous hearing had been ruled invalid by the county district attorney's office.

In expressing his opposition to Laguna Salada's stand, calling for unification within the district's own boundaries, Ballew decared:

"Regardless of any representations to the contrary, there are many people, including myself, in the Laguna Salada District who strongly oppose the unification of the Laguna Salada District within itself."

He argued that the assessed valuation behind each student in Pacifica would drop from approximately $22,000 to about $15,000.

A soaring enrollment in the next three years would lower that figure and the level of services to the students.

"The legislature has made it brutally clear that it has no intention of substantially increasing state aid to schools," he continued.

"The legislature has also made it clear that unless we unify into larger districts, they will take steps to do it for us."

Mrs. McCarthy, in her letter to the committee, said Laguna Salada "has already grown beyond any close knit friendliness and it has spilled over city boundaries."

Representatives of the four Northern County elementary districts, who earlier voted against the plan, said they would urge their voters to defeat the proposal.

Coaches Seek Legal Advice On Contracts

Coaches in the Jefferson High School District indicated this week that legal advice would be sought on the terms of their contracts.

The coaches previously indicated they would not coach after school unless extra pay was granted.

The district's board of trustees last week denied the extra pay request, pending a study of the proposal.

Joseph McGrath, football coach at Jefferson High School, said coaches had been told their contracts required them to coach "whether we want to or not."

He added that legal advice is being sought on whether the contracts call for after-school coaching.

We Lose An Hour

That popular institution, Daylight Savings Time, arrives Sunday morning for its annual six-month run on North County clocks.

To keep in step with the times, you should turn all your timepieces ahead one hour sometime before dawn rolls around Sunday.

You'll get that lost hour back in October when the curtain falls on Daylight Savings Time for another six months.

Deadline Is Near

A raft of merchandise orders and prizes is awaiting a pretty Daly City miss in the tenth annual Miss Daly City contest, sponsored by the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

Three young ladies have submitted applications to date for the coveted title as a May 1 deadline for entries rapidly approaches.

The three entrants are Patricia Van Koll of 248 Santa Barbara Avenue, Judy Liss of 125 Ashland Drive and Susann Bernard of 996 Wildwood Avenue.

To be eligible for the contest, a girl must be between the ages of 16 and 26 and have lived in Daly City for the past six months.

Applications for the contest may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office at 6454 Mission Street or at the office of The Post at 30 Park Plaza Drive.

Preliminary judging will be held at the Westmoor High School Little Theater on May 22. Final judging will be held at the Elks Club Club on Hillside Boulevard in South San Francisco on June 10.

Sewer Rate Boost Is Set

A two-thirds increase in annual sewer rental rates for South San Francisco was approved last night by its City Council.

By passing two ordinances establishing new rates and regulations, the council moved the yearly cost from $9 per customer to $15.

New High School Site Is Approved by County Unit

A new high school site in the Crocker Tract, just north of Brisbane, won the grudging approval of the County Planning Commission Thursday.

In response to the Jefferson High School District's request for approval of the site, the commission voted to send along a staff report in which several drawbacks were pointed out.

The school will be the fifth high school in the district and will accommodate students of Brisbane and Bayshore presently being transported to Jefferson High School on Mission Street in Daly City.

The staff report questions the area's zoning, which is heavy industrial.

It points out that schools are not normally permitted in indus-

PACIFICA'S EROSION FIGHT

Another Chapter Is Added

A PUBLIC HEARING in Pacifica next Wednesday evening will add another chapter to a struggle that has been going on for more than 10 years to stem beach erosion along Pacifica shores.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. in the city council chambers in city hall to initiate a study of beach erosion.

More than a decade ago, a group of Pacifica residents first sat down to discuss the problem.

The corps' district engineer has been directed to make a three-year study of the erosion problem.

The project was authorized by Congress, which appropriated funds for the plan.

MAYOR HAROLD FEYGE, who has worked for more than four years to have such a study begun commented this week:

"Even then (after Congressional action) we had not entirely succeeded, for the appropriation for the study, instead of being specifically earmarked, was placed in a lump sum appropriation along with related resolutions by the Public Works Committee.

"Every congressman was out ot get the biggest piece of pie for his own district." He continued:

"Congressman (J. Arthur Younger did some outstanding work, on this, and finally the money was appropriated."

The notice of the hearing, signed by Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer, invites all interested parties to be present and was sent to a long list of governmental agencies and persons.

"Every federal agency and department and subdepartment is included," said Feyge, "as well as all the state and municipal agencies and departments, newspapers, private persons, and so on." He explained:

"When I asked why, the answer was that they'd like to make absolutely certain no one who could conceivably be interested would be overlooked."

JUHS Trial For Damages Is Under Way

Six Lawyers Vs. County Attorney

A lone female deputy district attorney is pitted against six male lawyers in a trial in the courtroom of Superior Judge James T. O'Keefe.

The deputy, Lois Scampini, is representing the Jefferson Union High School District in its attempt to recover $200,000 for damage done in 1959 to the Westmoor High School site in Daly City.

The district contends that the owners and developers of adjoining property made such deep cuts in grading the land —ranging from 22 to 30 feet deep — that it deprived the school property of its normal lateral support with the result that an acre of land slid onto the graded property. The district is asking $150,000 in actual damages plus $50,000 in exemplary damages for "wilful misconduct and/or negligence."

There are 13 defendants. Among them are the Caesar Callan Development Corporation, owner of the adjoining land; developer Chris McKeon, who let the grading contract; H. Earl Parker Inc., the grading contractor; and Theodore V. Tronoff, the project engineer.

60-Foot Fall Fatal to D.C. Motorcyclist

A Daly City man was killed Sunday when his motorcycle skidded off of Gazos Creek Road south of Pescadero and fell 60 feet into the rocky bed of the creek.

Highway Patrolman Ben Donahue said the victim, Larry Ellis Elmore, 23, of 369 Westlake Avenue, apparently struck his head on a large boulder when he landed.

Donahue said Elmore was in a group of cyclists traveling east on Gazos Creek Road at 11:30 a.m. when he lost control of his vehicle on a sharp left

ENGINEER'S REPORT

Error Is Blamed For Coast Sewer Outfall Collapse

By DON MILLER

The collapse of the sewage outfall line off Sharp Park in Pacifica earlier this year is the result of an error in judgment, the Pacifica City Council will be told tonight.

A 22-page report, based on the findings of Edgar Griswold, a consulting engineer hired by the city to investigate the collapse, will be given the council.

Griswold is both a civil and structural engineer and a deep sea diver.

In his report, he does not pinpoint the blame on anyone specific but rather states that an error was made in determining how deep the line should have been buried and how much support it needed.

"It is the opinion of this writer that the present outfall sewage system is entirely feasible," Griswold stated.

"If just a little more money had been spent to bury the line deeper, make it more flexible or support it more, it would not have parted.

"And if more efficient means had been used to adjust the diffusers (at the end of the pipe) the line would not have been plugged up."

Griswold listed several suggestions for repairing the damage, one of which he said would cost about $39,000.

This solution would involve installing a flexible joint between the end of the pipe that is still supported on pilings and the section of the pipe that has fallen onto the ocean bottom.

This is the plan he recommended.

Another solution, he said, would be to drive pilings and hang the pipe from them. He noted, however, that this would be an expensive project.

Mayor Harold Feyge commented after reading it that the report was "very good."

Councilman Harland Minshew has proposed that the report and other material gathered in the investigation of the outfall collapse be turned over to the County Grand Jury.

He said the county group should determine if a jury probe should be made.

Collapse of the outfall line was discovered by a scuba diver early in February. They found that a 600-foot section had broken off and was lying three feet down in the ocean bottom.

Allocation For Oceana Is Granted

Officials of the Jefferson Union High School District have learned that a surprise move by the State Allocations Board has made available funds for the second construction phase of Oceana High School, according to Administrative Assistant Richard Coltrell.

Previously, the board had been notified that the state would make available money necessary to complete work at Jefferson High School.

However, the district was re-

House Move Time Limit Protested

The Pacifica City Council will be asked tonight to change an ordinance setting a 90-day time limit for moving houses in the city.

Letters protesting the time period as too short have been received from Ben Pereira, Frank Lindberg, Manuel Perry, Richad Bader, William Stringer, Pete Pereira and George J. McFetridge Jr.

Opposing their contention is a report from Richard M. Taylor, city building inspector, which states the ordinance is adequate and should remain "as it is written."

In other business, the council will:

Hear a report by City Attorney Conrad Reisch on a long-disputed court order to the Hog Ranch behind Linda Mar to desist operation.

Consider the rezoning of approximately 12 lots in Brighton Beach Subdivision No. 1 from single dwelling to multiple-dwelling units—a change from R-1 to R-3—on the application of Harry R. Lechner, Russell D. Bossard, Frank A. Borelli and George A. Guralas. The planning commission opposes the change.

Move for adoption of an ordinance providing for "animal shelter service, regulating the care, custody and impounding of animals, and providing for the licensing of dogs . . .".

Rental Rate Increase Set

plained that the increase is due to construction costs of a new sewage treatment plant, and that it applies to commercial users as well as residents.

The council designated May 10 to 16 as "National Police Week," and asked all citizens to visit the local police headquarters during that week to see how the department operates.

Pacifica Zoning Plan Delayed

A proposed new master zoning ordinance for Pacifica was put over until May 18 by planning commissioners Monday so sections can be added to the new law to regulate construction of condominiums and high-rise apartment buildings and an "unclassified" zoning classification can be included.

Commissioners agreed to postpone consideration of the long studied ordinance after a public hearing produced no protests. The new law is based on an already adopted general master plan of the city.

In a lengthy but mostly routine meeting Monday, commissioners also:

Granted a use permit for a service station at the southeast corner of Pacific Avenue and the Freeway Frontage Road to the Richfield Oil Corporation provided company officials return with revised plans for architectural approval.

Granted Joseph E. McGuigan variance permits for a new motel on Montecito Avenue and Francisco Boulevard provided he returns with plan changes with 3 to 15-foot setbacks instead of the original zero setbacks requested.

Continued until May 11 a tentative map of the new Peralta Park subdivision as developers' representatives had left the meeting to go home before plans came up late in the evening.

Recommended that plans of the Church of Latter Day Saints for series of duplexes on two acres north of the Linda Mar Elementary School be denied by councilmen as the area should be preserved for single-family homes.

D.C. Woman Injured in House Fire

A 49-year-old Daly City woman suffered severe burns Saturday afternoon when a fire broke out in the bedroom of her home.

Mrs. Mary Marsh, 49, was carried out of her smoke-filled house at 380 Bellevue Avenue by Daly City firefighters and taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco.

She was treated for first and second degree burns on her back and legs and then transferred to San Mateo County General Hospital.

Fire department officials said the cause of the fire was under investigation. A dog owned by Mrs. Marsh also was burned. It was taken to McIntyre's Pet Hospital.

field at a cost of approximately $600,000.

The new classrooms would be built in clusters of four surrounding a central multi-organizational room, a design that lends itself to a variety of teaching situations and techniques.

In the near future, Foster will take preliminary architectural plans to the departments of Finance and Education as a prelude to meeting with the State Allocation Board for a final decision.

Asked how he views the district's chances for a favorable, precedent-setting decision, Foster replied:

"We anticipate a battle."

earthquakes and their effects on city services.

He said the 1957 earthquake had knocked some of the city's wells "out of kilter" and he wanted to make sure the city's water tie-ins with San Francisco were adequate to support the city's need.

trial zones and states that there are residential zones to the north and east that might be more suitable.

The planners also expressed concern about massive grading that will be required to prepare the site, noting a difference of 350 feet in elevation between the high and low points of the property.

As planned, the site would have two terraces, one of 13 acres, the other of 30 acres.

The staff said it was also concerned about the proposed access road, the Market Street extension, which it said would be steep and curvey and might be difficult for trucks and buses to negotiate.

Rich Coltrell, administrative assistant of the district, said the site was selected as the "most feasible" by the architects and engineers employed by the district to design the school.

He said the site has not been purchased or even appraised yet.

The state Allocations Board last week approved only school construction requests and no site allocations, he said.

If this policy continues, the district could not make any site purchases until after November when a new bond issue passes. This would put the high school four to five years away from completion.

On the grading required for the school, Coltrell said the terrain of the land is such that no matter which site was selected, it would take massive grading to obtain a good usable 50 or 60 acres for a high school.

"Individual residents of Esplande — and other residents who are affected—will submit information about much land we've lost and other pertinent information as to what has transpired, in writing, in 'quadruplicate, as the notice asks." He went on:

"We are not prepared to project costs—the city of Pacifica may do this. That is up to them. We are simply going to provide the factual data as we know it." And then Link added:

"I want to say this. I am very optimistic. I feel Pacifica will benefit no matter what approach they (the Engineer Corps) take."

In outlining a tentative time schedule, Coltrell indicated that actual work may begin as soon as June with a completion date set sometime during the fall of 1965.

The Oceana project calls for the construction of classrooms, an art room and a cafeteria — plus modifications to the existing structure.

NOONAN CLOSE THIRD

Pacelli, Polonsky Are Sworn in After Victory

PACELLI POLONSKY

Two Daly City Council incumbents, Francis Pacelli and Albert Polonsky, were sworn in last night for four more years following their victory at the polls last week.

Pacelli led the voting with 4,438 in a strong showing.

Polonsky, however, just edged challenger Thomas Noonan, for the second spot on the council by 47 votes. The totals were: Polonsky, 3,723; Noonan, 3,676.

Polonsky replaced former Mayor Joseph Verducci at the beginning of the year. It was Noonan's second try at a council seat. He is chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees.

Showing surprising strength in his first try for a public office was Anthony Giammona, director of athletics at Westmoor High School. He polled 2,901 votes.

George Kirchhubel, a tavern owner, garnered 1,201 votes and Sheila Bauer, who moved from the city to Sausalito a month ago, collected 369 votes with no campaigning at all.

Running unopposed for the positions of city clerk and city treasurer, Anna Ohlendorf and Joseph Lewkowitz, respectively. Mrs. Ohlendorf polled 6,704 votes and Lewkowitz, 6,751.

Pacelli has been on the city council since 1958 when he was appointed to fill a vacancy. He ran for re-election in 1960 and was second behind Verducci in the voting then. He is married, the father of five children and is part owner of a business supply office and a stationery store.

Polonsky, a San Francisco lawyer and resident of Daly City for 12 years, was chairman of the personnel board before his council appointment.

Son Joins Father on Colma Council

TAYLOR

HONEYWELL

The Town of Colma, population estimated at 500 residents, will have a father and son on its council when the council sits down for its next meeting May 13.

Colma residents last week voted Mayor Fred Barbini out of office and instead elected 22-year-old Raymond Ottoboni to his seat. Ottoboni is the son of councilman Raymond Ottoboni Sr.

Father and son work together in Ottoboni Sr.'s Pioneer Nursery and Florists.

Garbini ran fifth in a field of seven candidates seeking three seats on the council.

Returned to office were incumbents Earl Taylor and Wallace Honeywell.

Taylor led the voting with 90 votes while Ottoboni was the runnerup with 82.

Mary Ryan, widow of Michael Ryan, Colma Councilman until his death in 1962, finished a strong fourth, polling 70 votes — just four less than Honeywell.

Taylor has been a member of the town council since 1947. He has been a Colma resident since 1947, is married and is the father of four daughters and a son.

Honeywell has been a council member for the past six years. He was appointed in 1958 and elected in 1960. He is married and the father of two sons.

Young Ottoboni is a graduate of Serra High School. He attended City College of San Francisco and Heald's Business College. He is married.

S.S.F. Incumbents Returned

South San Francisco's City Council will sport a familiar lineup at regular council meetings in the future.

All three councilmen seeking re-election were given the nod of voters in last week's municipal elections in a light turnout.

Frank Bertucelli, running for his first full term on the council, led the council voting with 3,916 ballots, 213 more than runnerup Guido Rozzi. Emilio Cortesi, at 74 years of age the dean of the council, ran third in the race for three seats with 3,363.

BERTUCELLI

ROZZI

CORTESI

The only challenger, David Baba, polled 2,100 or 1,262 less than Cortesi.

City Clerk Arthur Rodondi, running unopposed, gained 4,271 votes while City Treasurer John J. Bonalanza, also running without opposition, polled 4,306 votes — the highest total of any candidates seeking office.

Bonalanza thus became the city's third treasurer in history. He had been appointed this year to succeed Edward P. Kauffman who retired after 50 years service.

Coast Baby Is Saved by Fast Action

A quick-thinking Pacifica mother Monday morning saved the life of her 14-month-old daughter, who had almost drowned in a bathtub.

The child, Pamela Justis, was taken to Peninsula Hospital after firemen used a resuscitator to revive her.

The tot's mother, Mrs. Gail Justis, 1546 Victoria Street, used mouth-to-mouth breathing to keep Pamela alive until firemen arrived on the scene.

Pacifica Police Officer Don Joice said the mother had left the child in the tub to answer a telephone.

Pacifica Council Will Have New Look Tonight

A familiar face will be gone and two newcomers will be present when the Pacifica City Council sits down for its regular bi-monthly meeting tonight.

Absent will be George Mason, Pacifica's mayor in 1962 and a councilman since the city's incorporation in 1957.

Present will be Grace McCarthy, a member of the city's Park, Beach and Recreation Department since it was formed in 1958, and James Fox, a member of the Pacifica Planning Commission for the past six years.

McCARTHY

Mrs. McCarthy and Fox were elected to the council last week in the North County's most spirited municipal campaign.

FOX

Nine candidates sought seats held by Mason and Councilwoman Jean Fassler, who is running now for a seat on the County Board of supervisors.

Mrs. McCarthy led the balloting with 2,103 votes. Fox polled 1,847 or 393 more than third place Basil Gladieux, making his second bid for public office.

PACIFICA MAYOR Harold Feyge keeps score at election headquarters in the city's council chambers as vote returns pour in during last week's nine-way race for two council seats. Mrs. Grace McCarthy and James Fox were elected. Voters also approved a salary for councilmen.

Mason trailed back in fourth place with 812 votes.

In addition to voting for councilmen, Pacifica residents also had been asked to vote on a proposal to pay councilmen $50 a month and the mayor $75.

They approved the proposal by a slim 42-vote margin—1719 for and 1677 against. The proposal needed only a majority to pass.

The total voter turnout was 49.5 per cent of those registered — the highest turnout since incorporation.

Mrs. McCarthy's vote total was the second highest rolled up by any candidate seeking a city office.

Mrs. Fassler holds the record with 2618 ballots she received when she sought a second term in 1960.

Playboys, Bears Share Title; Celtics Champs

The BYA Daly City Drugs Playboys and the PAL Bears share the championship of the Eighth Grade League while the PAL Celtics hold the title in the Seventh Grade League in basketball sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

The Bears picked up a forfeit win to give them an 11-1 final record, matching that of the Playboys.

In a final game of the season, the Holy Angels Warriors fell before the PAL Wildcats. Gerry Calios of the Wildcats paced his team with 30 points.

In the Seventh Grade League, the Celtics finished up their season by posting their twelfth win in 12 games—a 33-28 win over the OLM Leopards. Steve Powell was high with 13 points.

In another game, the BYA Bender Roofing Cats swamped the OLPH Hilltoppers, 56-9. Joel Carrara tallied 34 points for the Cats.

One Better Than Dad

Nine-year-old Johnny Zidich of Daly City, son of former San Francisco Seals pitcher Matt Zidich, twirled a no-hitter to lead his Our Lady of Mercy fourth grade club to a 1-0 victory over St. Bridges Sunday in a Catholic Youth Organization League game at Funston Field in San Francisco.

Zidich struck out 13 of the 16 men he faced. The victory was his tenth in 11 decisions. The team is in second place.

His father recorded a couple of one-hitters but not any no-hitters while pitching for the Seals in 1948-49. The family lives at 96 Lakemont Drive.

Starting time is at 10 a.m. at the Terra Nova track field.

Cash, Tires Are Stolen

A Daly City Tavern and a gasoline service station reported burglaries to Daly City police last week.

Thieves took $30 from a file cabinet at Kirchhubel's Tavern at 6292 Mission Street. And at the Flying A Station at School and Mission Street, burglars took $35 in cash and at least four tires.

Dateline Daly City

IT HAPPENED back in August, 1963, with the annexation of Bayshore City into Daly City. But the full realization that the Cow Palace was a Daly City property did not really hit us until this month.

The legal niceties of last August's annexation notwithstanding, it actually took a wire service news story to open our eyes to Daly City's territorial acquisition of the Cow Palace.

The story emanated earlier this month from the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition, an annual event at the big auditorium.

For the first time in history, a wire service story was filed from the Cow Palace under the dateline, "DALY CITY."

We not only applaud this accurate bit of reporting, but remind readers that until this year, the Cow Palace has continually been a bit misplaced geographically when writers dashed off stories under the San Francisco aegis, since the Cow Palace has always been stationed in the County of San Mateo.

"County of San Mateo" does read rather awkwardly for a news story dateline, however, and we can certainly understand the reporters' haste to take the easy way out and pin the San Francisco label on their writings.

And in the future there will undoubtedly be other errant scribes who, unaware that they are pounding out stories in the Daly City tera firma, will go on in blissful ignorance — telling their readers that the Cow Palace is in San Francisco.

WE'RE BREATHLESSLY awaiting the Republican National Convention at our Cow Palace in July when, hopefully, thousands of yards of wire service and syndicated news copy will be ground out under that soon-to-be- world-renowned name, "DALY CITY," while hundreds of television cameras focus in on Daly City real estate and announcers dutifully identify us to the millions of viewers across the country.

We will be happy to overlook those few journalistic derelicts who chauvinistically continue to pin the S. F. dateline on Daly City history in the making.

Meanwhile, State Senator Richard J. Dolwig has officially noted the coming of the National Convention to Daly City.

The Senator recently submitted a resolution before the upper house wishing Daly City officials "good luck" in handling convention traffic and crowds.

While noting that San Francisco civic leaders made a great effort to bring the GOP to the Bay Area, Dolfig reminded fellow Senators that the Cow Palace convention site has been officially annexed to Daly City.

WE WELCOME the Republican National Convention to Daly City (we try to say this without affecting too much nonchalance).

But we wonder if Senator Dolwig's resolution of "good luck" in handling crowds and traffic doesn't have an ominous ring to it.

Does Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi think he'll need good luck in handling the thousands of delegates, visitors and sightseers during the July shindig?

If so, he's not saying.

The Cow Palace (and the Republican National Convention), is ours. Welcome to the thundering herd.

Miss Daly City of 1960

BONNIE ROBIN became a model after she won the title of Miss Daly City in 1960. She is pictured here in the type of pose that captured the votes of judges. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robin of 280 Westbrook Avenue, Daly City, she is a graduate of Westmoor High School. When she won the title, 20 other girls were in the contest. In 1962, Bonnie married John P. Flaharty Jr., a Marine Corps first lieutenant. They are the parents of a son, Shon, born in December of last year. The family is living in Honolulu. Applications for the 1964 Miss Daly City contest must be submitted no later than May 1. They are available at the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce, 6454 Mission Street, or the office of The Post, 30 Park Plaza Drive.

Pacific Parade

An Era Ends; Another Begins

Don Miller

THEY CALLED it the "end of an era." It could have been dubbed the start of another.

"It" was the last passenger service operated over the southern portion of the Sacramento Northern Railway, a gala affair conducted the other day over in Contra Costa County to the delight of rail fans, the curiosity of residents along the way and the utter disbelief of the good citizenry of Pittsburg where the train creaked menacingly right smack down the center of a main thoroughfare.

Just in case you haven't heard of the Sacramento Northern (you mean you haven't?) this modest little carrier once was part of a lively electric railway that stretched all the way from San Francisco to Chico.

Bit by bit portions of the line were abandoned, however, and on June 30 of 1941, the whole business was short circuited for good when the last commute train from San Francisco rolled to a stop in Concord.

That ended the Sacramento Northern's regular passenger service for the next 23 years until the other day when not one but four passenger trains, staggered at roughly three-hour intervals, rattled over the rails out of Walnut Creek.

IT WAS ALL part of a celebration of sorts, sponsored by the Walnut Creek Junior Chamber of Commerce and two railroad fan clubs, to officially ring down the curtain on this portion of Sacramento Northern's right of way.

The railroad is abandoning the trackage to make way for the start of a new era — the Bay Area Rapid Transit District. Sometime next year, BARTD will begin operating a special test section of what someday it declares will be the world's most modern urban transportation system.

The test track will be laid down between Pleasant Hill and Concord and will be incorporated later in the 75 miles of track the transit district hopes to have completed in the Bay Area in 1971.

Sleek, high speed trains will streak over these rails, the district says, carrying Contra Costa folk to downtown San Francisco in far less time it once took patrons of the Sacramento Northern.

WE WISHED the other day one of those futuristic trains could have been in operation for it would have provided a startling contrast to the four passenger trains involved in the "end of an era" celebration.

Not that the Sacramento Northern's last service was slow. Let's charitably report that it was perilously close to nonexistent. This was largely because of the motive power the railroad had exhumed for these historic proceedings.

The engine had been billed by one railroad club as the "famed Sacramento Northern Locomotive 143." This, naturally, conjured up visions of a great and powerful monster, straining at the throttle to roar out and strut its horsepower.

What old 143 turned out to be was a Lilliputian-sized switching engine.

The first inkling that Old 143 wasn't going to be able to cut the mustard in exactly supersonic fashion came when the engine and its four passenger cars began the first of the four "end of an era" runs by backing up.

The plot behind all this was carefully explained by a knowing rail fan who said the train was backing up so it could get up speed to negotiate a slight grade in the other direction on the way out of town.

When you stopped to digest that fascinating bit of news for a moment, you couldn't help but wonder why the Sacramento Northern's commute service hadn't ended long before it did.

After this short reverse, the train attacked the grade in reckless abandon while passengers waved and tracksiders cheered.

OLD 143 made the grade in snappy fashion, which was probably a bad move for the alacrity with which it swept over the hill gave a false sense of accomplishment to the train crew.

That is, on the next trip, the engineer smugly decided to forego the bother of backing up and charged off at the grade straight away.

What ensued was probably the slowest passenger run ever recorded in Contra Costa County. So slow, in fact, that if they had decided to build an underpass at one of the crossings the train blocked on its tortoise-paced run, they might have just finished it before the last car groaned by

The trip to Pittsburg was noteworthy in that hordes of suburbanites, basking in the warm sun in their backyards and around their pools, seemed to regard the Speedball Express as something that had arisen from some dark railroad catacomb.

Their curiosity, however, quickly turned to lavish displays of hand-waving as the Limited rolled virtually through their patios.

Undoubtedly, these friendly folk were unaware that three more catacomb caravans were scheduled to clatter by later for if they had been aware, they probably would have hurled vegetables instead of greetings.

In fact, we might have run into a real live ambush and maybe even a moderate explosion on the tracks at Deathless Pass.

All of which would have ended the "end of an era" right then and there. And without a refund!

North County Notebook

The Sidetrack Was Interesting

Ron Bates

THE COUNTY Committee on School Reorganization got off on an interesting sidetrack at a public hearing on unification in the North County last week in the Westmoor Little Theater.

The subect was voting intelligently on a person outside of your own district. It was brought up by Dory Mitchell of Colma who questioned the committee's plan to have representatives of one of the four trustee areas being voted on by residents from another district.

"I can't help wondering whether people in Bayshore would know the people running from Colma," she said.

Chairman Paul Bradley, I think, made some good points in voicing the committee's thinking on the question.

He pointed out that the supervisors in San Mateo County are selected this way. Although they must live in the district they represent, the whole county has to vote them in.

THERE HAVE been cases in the past where an incumbent has lost heavily in his own district but stayed in office because of a strong outside vote.

A person running for an office in this way, Bradley contends, has to familiarize himself with the problems of the whole area ratherthan just his own small bailiwick.

If the voting were done the other way, he said there would be a tendency toward creating "lordships of interest."

In other words, the representative would cast his vote to insure his position and not necessarily for what he believes would be right for the whole area.

San Mateo, incidentally, is one of only two counties in the state that selects its board of supervisors on a county-wide ballot.

Bradley said there are some disadvantages to the system, but they are "far outweighed" by the system.

MONA BAKER, former columnist on a paper that will remain unmentioned here, gave a very interesting talk Thursday at the regular meeting of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

Her subect was "Television Opportunities for Daly City."

One of the prime opportunities for Daly City, she said, is the Cow Palace in July.

Now this is a subject that has been repeated and repeated in both letters to the editors and in these columns and promptly ignored.

Mrs. Baker participated in a lively discussion with Walter Cronkite, the noted telecaster, after he looked over the Cow Palace in preparation for coverage of the event.

When she informed him of the annexation and the fact it was in Daly City, he seemed genuinely interested and asked her to give him more data on it.

With that magic sentence, he opened the floodgates because he is going to get swamped with it, she said.

ONE OF the Chamber members said later maybe we shouldn't press the point too much because, after all, San Francisco businessmen spent about $600,000 to draw the convention here.

To which City Manager Ed Frank piped up: "All the benefits of the convention will go into San Mateo County and San Francisco. They recognize that the money will be spent in the city and along Bayshore Freeway. So I wouldn't worry about upsetting them."

But the convention is not the only opportunity for Daly City in television, Mrs. Baker pointed out.

All television stations have to donate a certain portion of their time to public service programs, such as the Christmas show in which the Daly City Community Chorus participated in last December.

The chorus made such a hit they were invited back for a second show this Christmas.

Mrs. Baker said there are many programs of this nature and she urged the chamber to take advantage of them.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY available is being made possible with the recent federal grant to College of San Mateo to establish an educational television station.

There will be 150 hours of free time and Daly City could get a good share of it if the city went after it.

"Strike while the iron is hot," Mrs. Baker advised.

Her enthusiasm over her subject was impressive and it just may have set her up for a draft to the chamber's publicity committee.

The Marquee

Muffled Hurrahs

Barbara Bladen

IT USED TO BE a commonplace occurrence in the theater for enterprising feature players to hire a claque. That meant they'd pay a group of people to sit in the audience and clap loudly when the actor made an entrance or exit. No self-respecting performer would do that now so the Goss family of Atherton had to muffle their hurrahs when "Little Me" opened at the Curran Theatre Monday.

When Richard Goss made his entrance, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Goss, and his brothers, Gary, a partner with his father in the firm of Goss and Goss, accountants in San Carlos; Baline, an insurance representative and Dean, a freshman at Woodside High School probably were tempted to give a cheer. They were remembering "Bick" as he is known to his Peninsula friends. He started studying dancing as a youngster with Les Williams Studio and has diligently applied himself to a career in the theatre ever since.

An alumnus of Carlmont High School, where he was in the choir and was head cheer leader, Bick kept busy with all the activities of an athletic teen-ager and didn't use his talents until he was in his senior year at San Jose State College. He belonged to Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and did some singing and dancing in a variety show.

By the time he graduated, he had received a scholarship for two summers of study at the Perry-Mansfield School at Steamboat Springs, Colo. That's when he studied ballet, training essential for a professional.

IT WAS at Stephens College, where he taught dancing for a year, that he met the daughter of Paul Draper, a well known dancer who lived in New York. She asked him to come to Manhattan as a house guest and he got his first dancing job shortly afterwards—as a teacher at the Fred Astaire Studios.

While studying voice and acting at Carnegie Hall, he got his first professional dancing job, as a soldier in the chorus of the Bolshoi Ballet Company from Russia.

A succession of important jobs followed which included the "Las Vegas Follies" at the International Theater Restaurant, "We're Civilized," an off-Broadway musical, "Tales Untold of Canterbury" concert, "Life of Buddha" concert at Kaufman Hall, "Movietown Newsreel" for the Paramount film preview of "Tender Is the Night."

It won't be the first time his parents have seen him perform. They went to Dayton, Ohio, last summer where Bick was appearing in summer stock. He appeared in a musical with Ilka Chase and Edgar Bergen, in "West Side Story" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

The Book Shelf

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

"I AM NOT here as a Democrat. I am not here as a leader from the Senate. I am here as an American."

These words from an address by President Johnson offer a sort of summary to his political philosophy as expressed in a collection of his speeches entitled, "A Time for Action."

There are 19 speeches in this book. The first was delivered January 2, 1953; the last January 8, 1964.

The first six were prepared while he was a United States Senator; the following nine while he was vice president; the last four since he became President of the United States.

THE SELECTIONS show Mr. Johnson to be a man with humanitarian goals and a great love for his country.

He is a cautious man who seeks to work within a bipartisan atmosphere of checks and balances.

While he hates labels, he is loyal to his views, to his party and to his country.

He is a man of action, who likes a good fight, yet prefers to reason with his opponents.

THE 19 speeches show the President becoming more solidly liberal as the responsibility of the presidency settles upon him.

They show him to be a complex, well-trained American leader.

While many Americans will disagree with the premises of the various selections in "A Time for Action," nearly every one will find this to be an interesting and useful index into the thinking of the man who leads the country during a time that he calls a challenge to educated men.

Peninsula Panorama

Dog's Life Is Doggone Good

George Whitesell

THE DOGS of this Peninsula are a favored sector of canine society and, this department suspects, come pretty close to leading a life of continuous pleasure.

They are a happy lot of tail-waggers and slipper-chewers without many duties other than supplying unlimited amounts of affection to their owners—which nearly all dogs do without thinking about it anyway.

By modern standards they are well cared for and whole shelves in the supermarkets are loaded with various kinds of dog foods and dog goodies calculated to cram them with nourishment and vitamins.

In other words, a dog's life on the Peninsula is pretty doggone good.

THE WELL-ESTABLISHED work of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the other organizations that protect pets have virtually eliminated the stray dogs of by-gone years and a homeless pooch has become a rarity.

Of course, some dogs are tramps at heart and have an incurable wanderlust, but even so, any dog you see on a Peninsula street is likely to have a pad of his own, people who are waiting for him, and a very good notion of where he is going at the moment.

Also, it is ten dog-biscuits to one that any strange dog that visits your neighborhood will be within whistling distance of his own dinner bowl at mealtime.

About the only dogs here that occasionally have a hard time are the show dogs who have to pay the customary penalties for being aristocracy.

THEY HAVE to submit to brushing, clipping, dieting and the other un-doglike indignities that go with being a public figure and a glass of fashion.

They are not permitted the distracting luxury of a solitary flea, they cannot go out and give the neighborhood a searching sniffing every morning, and they must keep their barking restrained.

Worst of all, they have to stand and bear the scrutiny and even the handling of utter strangers.

In earlier days on the Peninsula nearly every dog, except the idle rich, was expected to put in a few hours a day for his keep and kip.

An ordinary dog-around-the-house was expected to be a watchdog, nip at the heels of peddlers and sewing machine salesmen, defend the sanctity of the yard against other dogs, and make himself generally useful as well as playing with the kids.

Ranch dogs were expected to bring in the cows, chase rabbits, keep varmints out of the barn, and stop the chickens from straying.

Hunting dogs, mostly hounds, had the easiest lives but had to work hard and skillfully when actually hunting.

Every livery stable and feed store had a terrior who was expected to backstop a contingent of cats in keeping the premises free of rats.

SPORTING SALOONS sometimes had fighting dogs in several different weights and a great deal of money was bet on their prowess.

In the Peninsula hills there were hardworking sheep and stock dogs, and some deputy sheriff usually owned a trio of bloodhounds for tracking—they were the only police dogs of another era.

Any dog who wanted to could take on extra, volunteer jobs like barking at bums along the railroad, marching in parades, scampering around second base at the Sunday ball game, baying at the moon or harmonizing with the local brass band at concerts and rehearsals.

And, long before the time of today's most useful dogs, the Guide Dogs for the Blind, every blind beggar who came through town had his own canine companion.

We cannot speak from a dog's point of view, but it seems likely that the dogs of yesteryear, for all their jobs, must have liked their life here just as much as the modern dogs.

Dog owners all know that their pets like to be useful, even to the extent of dreaming up imaginary dangers from which the family needs to be saved. Perhaps this is just persisting dog memory from long ago.

Now all that is required of most dogs is that they be friendly, good playmates, and able to soak up almost as much love as they give.

It must be very pleasant to be a Peninsula dog.

WE'RE ABOUT to break a promise to ourself and do some predicting, something that we said several weeks ago we would never do in this column.

Reason for the change of heart is that a relative of ours got in one of those office pools picking the top 10 hitters in the majors this year, and foolishly requested our help.

So we got interested in the project and one thing led to another, so why let all that research go to waste?

Not to keep you in suspense or anything, but, before releasing our fantastic discoveries, we think a few observations, backed, we hope, by facts, are in order.

First the facts: Last year the National League batted .245, a drop of 16 points from 1962; the American League hit .247, a fall of 8 points from the previous year.

You'd have to go back to the dead-ball era of 1908 to find lower aggregate averages, when the National League hit .240 and the junior circuit hit .239.

And even then, those 1908 averages are closer to 1963's, than 1963's were to 1962's averages!

OBSERVATIONS: Even though many baseball experts still deny it, we believe the irrefutable reason for the dramatic hitting drop last season was the reversion to the larger strike zone, which had prevailed prior to 1953.

Therefore, we believe that the law of averages, which we feel dictate that hitters can't be that bad two years in a row while pitchers can't be that good two years handrunning, combined wih a year's adjustment of the batters to the "new" zone, will present an entirely new hitting picture in the majors this year.

Predictions: There were only 15 bonafide .300 hitters in the majors last year (11 in the NL, 4 in AL). We feel that the total number of .300 hitters in the majors could at least double this season, perhaps as much vas tripling the number in the American League.

The National League, we feel, will have only a small edge in the number of .300 hitters and in total league averages but will have a greater number of hitters in the upper echelon of the .300 class. The American League will have more .280-.290 hitters.

Finally, our Top Ten: (1) Pinson, .343; (2) Aaron .340; (3) T. Davis .339; (4) Cepeda .335; (5) Clemente .330; (6) Kaline .327; (7) Yastrzemski .325; (8) Mays .318; (9) T. Gonzales .315; (10) Rollins and Flood .310; (12) Frank Robinson .309.

So you've noticed we slipped in a couple extras, huh? We just didn't have the heart to break that tenth place tie, and as for Frank Robinson, who ever heard of a list of hitters without his name on it?

And besides, it's a coward's way out, naming 12 for good measure against the I-told-you-so's.

Here's a bonus pick. If Mickey Mantle's knees, arms, ankles, shoulder, ribs and head hold up, he'll finish right up there with .317 . . . and if Alvin Dark ever decides that it's nice to have lifetime .300 hitters in the lineup more than once or twice a week, Harvey Kuenn'll hit .310, too.

NOW LET US tell you something about Horace Stoneham, at least from our possibly subjective observations and perhaps rather limited point of view and indirect contact with the man.

He dishes out perhaps the biggest payroll in the majors.

He is not at fault for the Big Wind, because maneuvering San Franciscans knew of windy Butchertown long before they decided it was a place of least resistance to high profits.

He's loyal to his "own." Virtually all ex-Giants hold coaching and farm hand or front office positions, and how else would you explain Tom Sheehan as a manager that, ugh, year?

His background is one of a rich baseball heritage, which makes him perhaps the most knowledgeable owner in the game.

He loves profits, but he may love baseball more — or at least as much.

He's personally engineered or approved some of the best trades and purchases ever made in the majors (write in if you'd like them enumerated).

(He's a gracious loser (we saw him waving and chatting to fans in the stands minutes after McCovey's shot in that fateful final Series game).

And an anecdote. We mentioned several weeks ago a charity prep all-star game in which we were involved in promoting and which was played at Candlestick.

This game was thought of, planned and launched in a period of three weeks, which any promoters in the crowd will recognize as some kind of a record for a venture of that sort.

None of it could have happened had it not been for Stoneham's easy accessibility and co-operation. He threw the stadium open for the charity event, without question or even a request that his name be mentioned kindly in connection with the affair.

Horace Stoneham's detractors have some good points, for he does have his faults to be sure.

One of them is that he's human.

QUICK PREP NOTES: Probably the NPL's baseball upset of the season will never make official standings. Oceana's varsity beat the San Francisco State JV squad 9-8 recently — and the Gators weren't coasting for the Coastside kids . . . If Terra Nova's catcher-outfielder Larry Ferguson ever learns to hit consistently, he could be a prime pro prospect. He's about 6-2, 180, and still growing; runs like the wind and has a rifle arm. Was a big Little League star at one time, sort of let the game go for football and track, but is making a big baseball comeback in his senior yer.

Warriors Seek Repeat

Champs Will Tighten Up On Defense

By RON BATES

THE FACT that South San Francisco has the North Peninsula League's two top pitchers of last year returning this season to help the Warriors try for a second straight title is no reason to sit back and feel comfortable, according to Coach Bob Brian.

"We're trying to make the team as defensively strong as possible," he said. "In high school baseball, defense should be the prime consideration."

Brian's defensive formula for championships seems to be working. In the 10 years he has been baseball mentor at South San Francisco, he as garnered five titles.

Last year, with the hurling of Chuck Oliveira and Jeff Jones and the batting of first baseman Neil McNevin, the Warriors compiled a 10-0 record in league play.

Without taking anything away from either Jones or Oliveira, Brian credited the perfect record to good defensive play by the team.

"Both of them are control-type pitchers," Brian said. "The team was strong defensively and they got the ball to be hit to the infield."

While doing so Oliveira compiled a miserly .80 ERA, walking only a minimum of batters in notching a 5-0 record.

Jones was hardly less effective with a 1.50 ERA and a 4-0 record.

His high point of the season last year was when he struck out 13 Jefferson batters. He was the only pitcher in the league to blank the opposition and he did it twice.

THE MISNOMER that pitchers aren't good hitters was made evident last season by Jefferson's Mike Gutierez and Jerry Sullivan and Westmoor's Dave Williams.

This year it may be Jones who will emphasize the fact. He blasted three homers during the practice season, two of them in one game.

"We've never been a strong hitting club," Brian said. "In 1959 the team average was only .211 and yet we took the title."

The Warriors generally come up with one hitter every year to carry the club. Last year it was McNevin who hit an astronomical .577 and was named Most Valuable Player in the NPL. The closest teammate to him hit only .276.

McNevin, Jones and Oliveira all were named to the All-League team.

WHERE BRIAN'S batting power will come from this year is still not known.

It may come from sophomore Greg Jones, whose all-around ability has earned him spots on the All-League football and basketball teams.

He played good enough at second base to be selected to the dream team of the All-Easter Tournament team earlier this year.

It may also come from first baseman Carl (Bozo) Olson, son of boxer Bobo Olson. Brian moved him up from the junior varsity team recently because he was playing a good defensive game and was starting to pound the ball.

Of the five veterans returning to the club this year only pitcher Jones and Oliveira are going back to their old positions.

Dan Crowe is handling catching chores after playing outfield last year. Larry Sylvestri has moved to shortstop from center field and Sam Pretari, third baseman last year, has been moved to the outfield.

Pretari was another Warrior, along with the two Jones boys, who won berths on the Easter Tournament team.

IN HIS EFFORTS to find the best defensive combination, Brian has been shuffling his team around during the practice season. This is why the three veterans have found themselves in different jobs.

At third base is Bill Ladrum, a senior up from last year's jayvees. The other infielders are Sylvestri at short, Jones at second and Olson at first.

In the outfield with Pretari are Joe Toomey and Ray Garibaldi, both up from the jayvees. Two others scheduled to see action are seniors Mike Ruiz and Terry Burns.

A reserve who is expected to see action both in the outfield and as a relief pitcher is Joe DelCarlos. DelCarlo and another former jayvee, Frank Portusach are heir-apparents to Oliveira and Jones.

The Warriors have been tabbed pre-season favorites by the other coaches in the league and they gave evidence of their strength Friday with a 3-0 opening game shutout of Jefferson.

They'll be trying to continue to hold true to the prediction against the El Camino Colts this afternoon. The Colts are rated by the same coaches the team most likely to topple South San Francisco.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8.

The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas

The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas.

So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies.

There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Out at First

Safe at First

Rams Upended; S.S.F., Colts Take Openers

By CRAIG BECKHEYER

Disciplinary action on the part of Westmoor High School baseball coach Rod Lodsberger against over half of his regular starting nine helped produce the big surprise of the opening round of the 1964 North Peninsula League horsehide race Friday.

With five senior starters sitting out the opener for failing to show up for practice Thursday, Westmoor garnered but three hits and committed four errors in bowing to Terra Nova, 2-1, on the winner's diamond:

In other league action El Camino and South San Francisco, generally figured as the teams to beat, both won their openers on shutouts.

Mark Avelar, El Camino's ace hurler, threw a one hitter pounded out 11 safeties en route at Oceana while his mates pounded out 11 safeties en route to an 8-0 decision.

Meanwhile at Jefferson, South City's Jeff Jones allowed only three hits in whitewashing the Indians, 3-0.

With the score tied 1-1 in the bottom of the seventh Terra Nova's Bill Zander bunted down the third base-line with runners on first and second and the play turned out to be the winning gambit of the day.

Westmoor's second basemen let the ball get through him while covering first, providing the Tigers with their big upset.

Terra Nova's Jack Bresnahan turned in his finest performance of the year in allowing just three hits, striking out nine and walking none.

South City just got by Jefferson. Scoring one run on a suicide squeeze and the other two on an error in the third inning, the Warriors coasted the rest of the way on the superlative pitching of Jeff Jones.

Jones fanned 11 and walked only one on the way to his 3-0 shutout.

El Camino proved to be rude hosts indeed to Oceana. With Mike Tyler, Brain Cute and Mike Martin all collecting two safeties, the Colts shot to a commanding 6-0 lead after two innings.

The big hit of the day came in the fourth inning when Cute slammed a 400-foot home-run to boost the count to 7-0, and give Avelar more than enough to win.

The Colt ace turned in the best pitching performance in a day full of fine hurling in giving up just one hit and striking out ten.

PERKINS IS WINNER

KINGSTON, Jamaica—Eddie Perkins, the world junior welterweight champion, today was nursing a deep gash over his left eye, which he suffered in his successful title defense against Jamaica's Bunny Grant.

Perkins suffered the wound in the eighth round but still managed to score a unanimous decision in a 15-rounder Saturday night. The titleholder from Chicago weighed 139 pounds to Grant's 137½.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

WHILE gathering the material for this column I ran across a recipe that I'd made frequently a few years ago. It was widely advertised in the magazines and newspapers and really is a tasty entree. As you good cooks know, collecting recipes becomes a cumbersome affair. And you finally just have to redistribute your collection. That's how this recipe got lost in the shuffle — but now we'll return it to the active list.

COUNTRY PIE

½ cup tomato sauce
1 lb. ground meat
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon oregano

Combine all ingredients and mix. Then pat the mixture in the bottom and sides of a greased 9-inch pie plate.

1 and one-third cups pre-cooked rice
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups tomato sauce
1 cup water

Mix the rice (this is the packaged pre-cooked variety of rice) salt, sauce, water and cheese together and place in meat shell. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake 350-degree for 25 minutes. Uncover and top with ½-cup grated cheese. Bake uncovered 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

To make buying for this dish easy. Just buy two 8-ounce cans of tomato sauce. Put one-half can into the meat mixture and the rest in the rice filling.

DOESN'T this name for a salad sound intriguing? "UNDER-THE-SEA-SALAD." And Mrs. Lorri Cheli, 29, Cliffside Drive, Daly City, assures one it is as delicious as it sounds.

UNDER-THE-SEA-SALAD

1 pkg. lime gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup canned pear juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 pkg. cream cheese (small)
⅛ teaspoon ginger
2 cups diced, canned pears

Dissolve gelatin in the boiling water. Add pear juice and vinegar. Pour half of this mixture in a pan or mold and chill until firm.

Chill the remaining mixture just until it is syrupy, then place it in a chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream.

Cream the cheese and ginger together and fold into the whipped gelatin. Next fold in the diced pears and pour this mixture over the firm gelatin. Chill well. This will serve 10.

You can either use a mold and unmold upside down on serving platter. Or in a large cake pan, just cut the servings and turn upside down on dish.

Mrs. Cheli tells me this is her mother's recipe and has been a great favorite in their family for years. It has such a pretty appearance with the clear gelatin on top and the creamy mixture under the sea of green.

THIS LAST recipe has been tested and tasted and declared scrumptious by my teen-age nieces and their friends — so I offer it here for your teen-agers — of all ages. It sounds a bit too rich for my tastes but I am well aware that youngsters find few foods too rich.

DESSERTWICHES

Butter both sides of two bread slices, sprinkle with sugar.

On one slice of bread sprinkle 1½ tablespoons chocolate morsels or butterscotch. Top with 1½ tablespoons chopped nuts. Press second slice of bread on top.

Place on cookie sheet lined with super-strength aluminum foil. Bake in 375-degree oven, 8 to 10 minutes. Cut into quarters while still warm and sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

COMMITTEE chairmen are always on the lookout for someone who is exceptionally talented to lend a special touch of individuality to any social or civic event. Few presiding officers, however, are as fortunate as Mrs. Lincoln Walter, chairman of the "Fashions for Far Away Places," a style show being presented on May 2 by the Episcopal Church Women of St. Martin's Church.

Cause of the excitement among the members of the planning committee was the unveiling of a sample of the centerpieces being designed for the event by the marvelously talented Mrs. Bernard O'Hare, decorations chairman.

Like all successful artists, there is a touch of the mysterious about Mrs. O'Hare and her creations. Committeewomen are already obsessed by the question that will undoubtedly pique the curiosity of show guests. Specifically, how has she managed to carve quaint busts from styrofoam and make them appear to be scupted from hard wood? It is a question that will provide every table with a built-in topic of conversation!!

Mrs. O'Har, assisted by Mrs. Ted Tobb, have done hours of research to become expert in the styles of native attire in countries scattered all over the globe. With this background at their fingertips they have gone on to create heads, reminiscent of the classic dolls of the Victorian era, coat them with her mystery preparations which appears to transform the plastic into wood, and then paint them appropriately with demure faces, and reasonable facsimiles of the costumes native to various countries of the world.

So lovely are the busts, which are actually candle holders, that the members of the board have voted to offer them for sale following the show. According to Mrs. Hal Fox, publicity director, the committee expects to have at least 50 of the heads to sell and she expressed doubt that their will be enough to meet the demand once the guests have an opportunity to examine them.

The show will be held on May 2 in the Olympic Club and tickets are still available to persons contacting Mrs. Kenneth Brugge, PL 5-3261. Tickets cost $5 per person.

THE FORMATION of the northern Peninsula branch of the College of the Holy Names alumnae this past September appears to have stimulated considerable interest in this year's Alumnae Reunion to be held on May 2.

According to Mrs. Thomas Sammon, publicity director, more than half of the known alumnae in this area will be traveling to the East Bay to spend a day renewing ties and perhaps laughing and crying a bit over pictures taken by Sister Mary Austin and Sister Mary Clare during the many years they have served the college. Members of the chapter, which extends from Daly City to Burlingame, are pasticularly pleased by the great interest in the reunion because many of the women will be attending this annual event for the very first time. Proof, the members feel, that the group is succeeding in its prime objective, to stimulate interest in the college and to promote its welfare in any way possible.

South San Francisco's Mrs. John O'Brien, a member of the unit, is the general chairman of the Homecoming and she represents the very first West Bay alumnae to ever hold the post. The wife of an instructor at City College of San Francisco and the mother of three children, all under six years of age, she has devoted many weeks to preparing a very special day for everyone returning to the campus.

An added honor will come to the North Peninsula branch when Patricia McLaughlin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. McLaughlin of Parkview Drive in San Bruno is introduced as the recipient of a Woodrow Wilson Foundation scholarship for graduate study during the day's program.

Any local women who have graduated from the College of the Holy Names, and who have not been contacted concerning membership in the local branch of the alumnae are asked to call Mrs. Sammon, 761-2033.

THE PARISH Hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church will be completely transformed into a scene designed to inspire thoughts of a Roman holiday for the forthcoming church festival.

According to Mrs. Jack Rose, publicity chairman, there should be something to interest everyone on April 30, May 1, 2 and 3 when the 20 gaily decorated booths will be opened to display a veritable treasure trove of gifts, everything from dolls and gold fish to ham, bacon, linen and jewelry. There will be booths for toddlers, grade school children, teen-agers and adults, Mrs. Rose has announced, and refreshment booths featuring hot dogs, pizza, coffee, soft drinks and miscellaneous delicacies will be strategically located about the hall.

On Saturday and Sunday, May 2 and 3, Bugs the Clown will be present to entertain the children from 1 to 4 p.m. and on May 2 a chicken dinner will be prepared by Joe's of Westlake and served in the parish school between 4 and 7 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Harold Thompson, PL 5-3103 or Daniel McGill, PL 5-2888.

Terra Nova Topics

By CATHIE REED

FORTUNATELY for Pacificans and Terra Novans, Pierre Salinger's brother works at Nick's Rockaway, in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Due to some wrangling on the part of the teachers and a few students, the former presidential press secretary spoke to a general assembly of the student body yesterday and was greeted with a great deal of enthusiasm. This day in Terra Nova's history will long be remembered as much as the day when Gov. Pat Brown spoke to the Tigers last year.

TOM FARRIS, Mary McEvoy, and Sandy Shade have all been awarded state scholarships. Kathy Drake recently successfully competed in the Bank of America contest, which included a grueling interview. All of them have brought a great deal of merit to Terra Nova and deserve our heartiest congratulations.

THE VALUE put on going to the Senior Ball is really tremendous. The scheming going on this time of year in the senior class is shocking. Nice innocent-looking young girls are becoming very sneaky trying to prevail upon some boy — any boy — to take them to the Senior Ball. The boys aren't any better. Recently they've been gathering in little huddles, discussing the merits of this and that girl, etc. It's more pathetic than amusing.

The Terra Nova Girls' League has elected the Clothes Board members who will set standard of dress for this year and next. They are: freshman Peggy Gonzales, sophomore Kathy Grigg, junior Lee Granson, and senior Marilyn Monin. The Girls' League consists of all the girls in the school. Each representative was elected by all the girls in her class.

Westmoor Whirl

By SUE SHERMAN

ONE OF the most complete collections of Civil War photography ever assembled is now being displayed in the Westmoor High School library, in conjunction with a nation-wide commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

To remain in the library until Friday, the exhibit is entitled "Photography and the Civil War." Collected and sponsored by Ansco Division of General Aniline and Film Corporation, the show includes more than 100 Civil War prints, many of which were taken by the famed photo-journalist, Matthew Brady.

Most of the photos are of Civil War scenes; but also included in the group is a rare collection of Brady portraits, discovered quite by chance, in the attic of an old carriage house less than 20 miles from the Ansco plant.

Other pictures were supplied through the co-operation of the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and the Valentine Museum in Richmond, Va.

THE COLLECTION'S photos depict such scenes as Richmond in ruins; the outer trenches at Fort Gregg; the last fortification to fall in the final siege of Petersburg; and a burial truce at Fredericksburg, when Confederate troops came out to retrieve and bury their dead. Among the famous Brady portraits are those of Lincoln, Grant, Lee, General Custer, General Beauregard, and others.

Known as "Brady of Broadway" and the most fashionable portrait photographer of his time, Matthew Brady left the security and comfort of an established business to follow the troops and record for posterity the story of the Civil War. Recognizing the significance not only of the photos he was taking but of those made by other men, he collected all he could find. Through no fault of his own, Brady was credited with the more than 7,000 pictures in his collection.

FOR MORE than 100 years, the Ansco Company has played a significant part in the historical development of the United States. Most of the photographic supplies used by Brady and other photographers of the Civl War were supplied by the founders of Ansco.

Westmoor Plays Host To Contest

Taking second place in the fourth annual Industrial Arts Exposition held in Sacramento last month was Westmoor's Frank Bennett.

As an advanced auto shop student, Bennett was required last semester to make a visual aid project. He chose to make a cut-away model of a Jacobson two-cycle engine.

He took the engine, which he pirated out of the old family lawn mower, and completely disassembled it, cleaning all the parts. He then marked the areas to be cut away, providing inside views of the engine, and proceeded to cut all the parts with a hacksaw and then buff them smooth. After a careful painting of each piece, using different colors for easier identification, he assembled the engine and mounted it on a board (finishing up the project) He then labeled all the parts.

WHS Student Places Second At Exposition

Westmoor High School hosted 50 representatives from 25 Bay Area schools recently for the California Speech Association State Qualifying Tournament.

Westmoor participants were Elaine Pistoresi, dramatic interpretation; and Stefni Winters, humorous speech. Both girls were coached by Mary Ann Holden, hostess and chairman of the tournament. Elaine placed fifth in the state finals for dramatic interpretation in competition with 64 other contenders.

Schedule for the day consisted of six rounds plus finals in the following divisions: original oratory, impromptu, oratorical interpretation, dramatic interpretation and humorous interpretation. In all categories except the last two, boys and girls were separated during the competition.

Beginning and advanced members of WHS public speaking classes assisted during the day-long tournament by typing, score tallying, and performing various other jobs.

Parents and other interested observers from throughout the Bay Area acted as volunteer judges. Participants from Westmoor included Mrs. Margery Chiosso, Marsha Cohen, Carol Cordano, Mrs. Kevin Donvan Mrs. Francis Land, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Powell, S. T. Simon, Mrs. Martin Tonnissen, and Mrs. Eileen Winter.

FIRST EVER

Westmoor Art Festival Begins

Culture will prevail at the first annual Fine Arts Festival at Westmoor High School today and tomorrow.

Divided into three major fields, the festival is under the direction of Robin Jackson, drama, Brooks Darrow, visual arts and Howard Loeffler, music.

The program will be sponsored and presented by the students themselves.

The visual displays will include demonstrations in painting, sculpture, pottery and jewelry. They will be open for observation in the girls gym today and tomorrow during both school lunches and from 3 to 5 p.m.

The demonstrations will continue tomorrow from 7 to 10 p.m. during Westmoor's Open House program. Taking part in the demonstrations are Tom Passinisi, Cathy Brodie, Jane Hedlund, Mary Jane Putz, Barbara Maniero, Clariene La Rocca, Linda McLaughlin, Hazel Deacon, Donna Hutchins, Janice Cabral, Dean Taylor and Jim Tressler.

"Aria de Cape," a play by Edna St. Vincent Millay, is the main contribution of the drama department to the festival. The play will be presented on both evenings at 7 p.m.

Staged in the Little Theatre, the presentation will also include costumed people acting as guides and brochures for all spectators. The drama group will also perform at lunch for the benefit of the students.

Loeffler's music division will have the dance band performing in the girls' gym during both lunches today. Soloists will be featured on the same schedule the proceeding day. Tomorrow from 7 to 8 p.m. the Adult School Orchestra will perform in the girls' gym.

From 8 to 8:30 p.m. the music department, in conjunction with the visual department, will present two showings of an experimental film on visual arts, such as paints, put to music. The first run will include the original soundtrack, while the second running will feature a live jazz improvisation by the band; and from 8:30 to 9 p.m., the dance band will perform in the Band Room.

Performers include Donna LeFurgey, Larry Blake, Bob Tuttle, and Chuck Brickley. They will be accompanied by Cathy Leech and Ardith Rice, who will also give piano solos from 8 to 9 p.m. in the girls gym tomorrow.

BETTER BUSINESS

Dry Cleaner Is Not a Magician

By LORENE BEASLEY

PEOPLE WHO like to work with their hands can find many jobs in dry cleaning. Anyone who has an interest in clothing or in textile science or machinery, or chemistry, will find a satisfying job in the dry cleaning field.

With the many new materials appearing on the market every season, the successful cleaner must conduct a constant research on ways to handle the new fabrics without damage.

Many of the new fabrics are cheap imitations of the better materials. These imitations often go to pieces in the first cleaning.

One of the biggest headaches of the cleaning industry is expanded vinyl imitation suede garments.

Much of the research in the cleaning of new fabrics is done by trade associations.

The Better Business Bureau advises the person seeking quality cleaning (and quality should be first and price second) to patronize the cleaning shops that keep well-informed on all the new cleaning processes through membership in trade associations.

THE CUSTOMER should realize that a dry cleaner, no matter how excellent his reputation, is not a magician. He can only do his best to restore a garment to its original newness.

The customer often does not understand that stains, not visible on the clothing when brought in, can develop in the heat of the cleaning process.

For the customer who has both water and oil stains on his garments, it is necessary to dry clean to get rid of the hair and skin oils and to wet clean to remove perspiration stains.

To learn the art of dry cleaning, a person usually attends a private school or college of spotting, sponging or pressing.

This is an establishment in which individuals are taught the operations or processes employed in spottting, sponging, or dry cleaning by local application or pressing or other finishing of wearing apparel, feathers, furs, hats, fabrics, or textiles—whether gratutiously, for a charge or fee or in exchange of services.

This does not apply to any employee or apprentice or to a veteran — nor does it apply to a clinic or short course conducted by a local, state or national association for the general information of its members.

No person can conduct a clothes cleaning establishment unless there is an operator who has a valid registration certificate in charge of the establishment at all times.

THE EXAMINATION for a shop owner's registration certificate consists of a written examination, a manual pressing examination and a manual spotting examination.

The written examination consists of 50 questions covering these subjects: fabrics, sales practices and regulatory laws, spotting and cleaning practices and shop equipment.

In the portion of the written examination pertaining to fabrics, the applicant is given 10 samples of 100 per cent pure materials.

These samples are wool, cotton, silk, celanese or rayon and linen. The applicant is required to identify each sample.

In the category of sales practices and regulatory laws, applicants are required to answer questions on general sales practices and customer contacts used daily in the operation of a spotting and pressing shop: state labor laws, state fire marshal's rules and regulations and the dry cleaner's law.

THE BALANCE of the written examination is composed of questions relating to shop equipment, as well as problems encountered daily in actual shop operation relative to various type of cleaning processes, dyeing, finishing and spot removal.

The manual spotting examination consists of a test requiring the applicant to identify spots and fabrics of different types and to demonstrate his ability to remove such spots from the fabrics with commonly used chemicals.

In the manual pressing test, the applicant is required to finish various articles of wearing apparel. Each part of every garment has a point value.

AUTOS RIFLED

Eugene L. Vinje of 532 Niantic Avenue and Annie Wong of 526 Niantic reported to Daly City police last week that glove compartments in their autos, parked in front of their residences, had been rifled. Vinje said a flashlight was missing from his car.

Service At Night

Evening driver license service will be available on a trial basis at the Daly City office of the Department of Motor Vehicles, manager Owen V. Owens has announced.

Owens said the Daly City office was one of 41 DMV offices selected to provide the extended service. The office at 15 Southgate Avenue will be open on Thursday until 7 p.m., except on holidays, as a convenience to motorists who cannot visit the office during the regular daytime hours.

Vehicle registration service will be available only during the regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. office hours, Owen said.

D.C. Banker To Seminar

Daly City resident Armando B. Cassinelli, of 303 Glenwood Avenue, will attend a Bank of America industrial management seminar Sunday through May 6 at the University of California at Los Angeles. Cassinelli is an assistant cashier in the commodity loans department at the San Francisco home office.

Thirty other executives from the bank's branches throughout the state will attend the seminar, which is designed to keep key personnel up to date on the latest trends in industrial management.

In addition to classroom study and lectures by leading authorities in the field, there will be tours of several large corporations in the Los Angeles area.

Passenger Is Injured

One person was injured in a two-car collision on Geneva Avenue west of Bayshore Boulevard in Daly City early last Wednesday morning.

Carol C. Griffin, 26, of Castro Valley, a passenger in a car driven by David B. Harding, 36, of Hayward, was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco for a neck injury.

SSF Woman Hangs Self In Trailer

An elderly South San Francisco woman, widowed and suffering ill health, last Tuesday ended her life in her trailer court home.

Mrs. Dana Frazer, 77, was officially pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Emergency Hospital at 10:11 a.m., but she had died hours earlier.

Deputy County Coroner Joseph McPheeters said time of death was two to four hours before the body was discovered at 11 a.m. at Space 22, Rue 2, Treasure Island Auto Court.

The death was discovered by Mrs. Fraser's son Arthur, 139 Hedge Road, Menlo Park, who told police he was bringing some tax forms to his mother.

McPheeters said a light rope had been knotted around her neck, and tied to a furniture knob. She had written a note blaming her action on recent ill health. Mrs. Frazer was a native of Denmark, and the widow of Arthur W. Frazer Sr., who died about five years ago.

Fred Waring Record Sales Over 100 Million

FRED WARING
The Nugget

Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians top spot the Circus Room at John Ascuaga's Nugget. Rudy Cardenas, world famous juggler, is billed in the second position with his mystic artistry. Fred Waring has weathered all sorts of musical storms and fads — from Ragtime and the Shimmy to Rock 'N' Roll and the Jitterbug—without ever deterring from his credo of presenting good music. His course has paid off with record and album sales of well over 100 million . . . The Holiday Inn in South San Francisco presents the Frank Borg Trio for dinner-dancing. Those who stop by for late-night cocktails may also enjoy dance floor privileges. No cover or minimum charge at any time . . . Friday and Saturday dancing to Mario's Latin Trio is a weekly highlight at Frank Torres' Montara Beach Resort, home of Peruvian food. Service Wednesday through Sunday . . . George Zedlar and

Orchestra Leader Joins the Finocchio Cast

Al St. Claire, the orchestra leader turned female impersonator at Finocchio's in San Francisco, has a repertoire of 20 popular songs, all specially arranged for his voice range. He sings 'em all in the course of eac hweek, winning much extra popularity because he's such a stickler for variety. Gifted as a vocalizer of fine quality, Al also shows a musicianship which adds greatly to his classiness. St. Claire is one of several good reasons for seeing Finocchio's shows.

You may enjoy a "replay" of the day's ball game in the cool and relaxing cocktail lounge of the Hyatt House Hotel. The "hot stove coaches" gather here for cocktails and debates on "how it should have been played."

If you're in search of delicious food and leisurely cocktails in a beautiful setting, Bertolucci's restaurant in South San Francisco is an exciting and romantic spot.

Concert Pianist Hillsdale Inn

Lovely Rosa Linda, dynamic concert pianist and recording artist, is the new pianobar entertainer at the Hillsdale Inn in San Mateo. Rosa, whose successes in the United States have been many, has appeared on such television shows as The Steve Allen Show, the Tonight Show, Bing Crosby Show, Lawrence Welk Show, and many others.

Nomination for the "Take home special of the week": Farm Fried Chicken with potatoes, hot biscuits, honey and butter served at Moar's Cafeteria in Hillsdale Plaza. A perfect box lunch for home, the beach, or while traveling.

Who Needs a Horn? Just Say 'Wait'

During a dinner session at the Brentwood Lodge, the other warm eve, I couldn't help but overhear a conversation at a nearby table, where four of the fair sex were dining and chatting. Somehow the conversation drifted to automobile horns—with each describing the "honks" of their transportation.

The remark that topped 'em all was, "I haven't had a horn in my car for years. I just roll down the window and say, 'Wait,' when someone wants to pass me."

Nightly pianobar entertainment at Oakland's Holiday Inn is provided by Belle Oliver and Vivian Grant. Fifth big week for the well-received "Holiday in Paris" revue. Two shows nightly, except Monday.

Adele Rich is the new organist at Earl's "House of Fine Foods," appearing Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

Swimming Signup Set In Pacifica

Registration for the summer swimming program of the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department will be held Saturday, June 6, according to Eldred Lokker, department director.

Youngsters interested in other aspects of the summer recreation program may register at any of the city's seven playgrounds later in June.

At a meeting of the Park Beach and Recreation Commission last week, Lokker reported that Pacifica residents are now swimming each Sunday at the Terra Nova High School pool. The pool program is sponsored by the department.

The pool will be open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays until the close of school. During the summer, it will be open daily.

In other business, the commission:

Approved use of the Oddstad recreation center by St. Edmond's Episcopal Church Sundays during the summer. Completion of a new church, now under construction, is expected in August.

Voted to prepare a resolution of thanks and gratitude for Grace McCarthy. Mrs. McCarthy leaves the commission this week to take up her newly won position on the City Council.

S.S.F. Truck Driver Hurt

Stanley Keate, 42, 505 Cypress Avenue, South San Francisco, was injured Friday when a Bethlehem Steel Company truck he was driving collided with a switching engine.

The accident occurred in the Bethlehem Steel yards in South San Francisco. The fire department was called because Keate had to be removed from the cab of the truck.

He was taken to Peninsula Hospital.

Family Wins Sewage Suit

A Pacific family that was driven out of their home a few days before Christmas in 1960 by a deluge of sewage have won a total of $28,255 in damages following a six-day jury trial in the courtroom of Superior Judge Wayne R. Millington.

Ralph and Adelaide Hoyer were awarded $15,505 for damage to the home at 260 Monterey Road.

In addition, each member of the family won damages for the mental anguish and inconvenience they suffered.

The jury gave $5,000 to Mrs. Hoyer, $3,750 to her husband and $2,000 each to their daughters, Kathryn, 14, and Wanda, 12.

Auto Provides Unique Outlet

Westmoor High School's Auto Safety Club has provided students with an original method of taking out their aggressions on an inanimate object—an old automobile. Armed with sledge hammers, students paid for the privilege of being able to attack a car stripped of engine and transmission.

Endorsing this money-making project, club advisor George Christionson reports that money made from the enterprise will be used to support many of the Auto Safety Club activities.

Let's Name High School

Like to name a high school? If so, you're invited to submit names for two new high schools to be built in the Crocker Hills area and in the new Serramonte region of Daly City.

The schools will be a part of the Jefferson Union High School District.

Suggestions should be forwarded to Dist. Supt. Edward D. Morgan, Room 214, 375 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City.

The board of trustees will discuss names at each of its meetings forthe next month or so.

The call for suggestions follows a procedure set during the construction of Terra Nova and Oceana High schools.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

by Lloyd Johnson

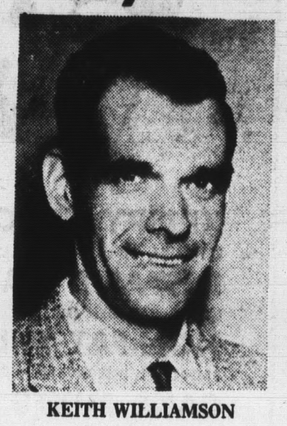
Keith's Chicken and Steak House Busy Place

If you happened to miss Keith Williamson's half page restaurant advertisement in Monday's Baseball Edition, phone your Bright Lighter and I'll gladly send you a copy. There are so many eat-in and take-out "food bargains" that I don't want a single reader to overlook them.

Keith's Chicken and Steak House is located at 1001 California Drive in Burlingame. The restaurant day starts at 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

A Merchants Luncheon for just 95 cents includes entree, beverage and dessert (beer excluded) and is served until 2 p.m. In addition, the regular luncheon menu is available until 4 p.m., at which time dinner selections take over until 10 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Sunday hours are 12 noon to 10 p.m.

Keith also highlights a five-car home delivery service from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Just phone your order in—it will be delivered to your front door in a matter of minutes. If you prefer to call at the restaurants for take outs, this service is featured from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.



KEITH WILLIAMSON

Steak, chicken, pot roast, spaghetti, and raviolis, along with delicious home made pies, are a specialty of the house.

Not that Keith Williamson doesn't have enough to do, the opening of his new bakery will be announced in the very near future. Which proves, in my book, that this busy guy is "cookin' with gas."

Chinese Food No Weight Problem

I guess many folks are like I am when it comes to watching their weight. I mention that by enjoying Chinese food at least once, or twice, a week (and there is certainly no shortage of Chinese restaurants on the Peninsula), you are sure to stay in the weight bracket you prefer.

Hing and Flora Lee suggest a visit to their Peacock restaurant in Redwood City. I tried their Sup Gum Gai Filet (chicken sauteed with white mushrooms, bamboo shoots, waterchestnuts, green pappers and tomatoes) here, Wednesday night, and next week I'll be back for an encore.

39th Anniversary Party for Villa Chartier

Emerson Murfee, host-owner of Villa Chartier in San Mateo, is staging a gala 39th anniversary party on Thursday evening, April 30. Jack Benny has been invited as an honor guest.

The Villa Chartier will have Al King and his five-piece orchestra playing throughout the evening and prices will be the same as always.

Arpad d'Zurko and his Stradivarius, accompanied by George Niklycek, will provide entertainment in the Fireside Room. The fun starts at 5 p.m. and lasts 'til 2 a.m.

Villa Chartier is one of the oldest restaurants in operation in San Mateo County, today—and one of the finest—featuring luxury atmosphere, quality liquors and entertainment nightly. Plan on Thursday, April 30, at Villa Chartier for this big celebration.

Capacity Business At Pioneer Hotel

Frank Herrick, new owner of the Woodside Pioneer Hotel, has a winning combination in Don Trimmer's orchestra, plus Emil Miller at the organ Friday, Saturday, and Sundays. Backdrop this with an excellent breakfast, brunch and dinner and it's no wonder the Pioneer is doing capacity business.

Next time you stop in Romano's out Pacifica way, take a look-see at the picture of the "King" in person with his pal Buddy Greco. It was taken during Buddy's dinner visit to Romano's while he was appearing in the Fairmont Hotel Venetian Room.

Raquel Torres is the new Latin doll at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa, replacing the Two Mosquitos," who enjoyed a successful six months engagement here. Raquel, one of Mexico's best known folk dancers, will add extra flare to the fast-moving floor show.

Herman Slavsky of Superior Home Improvement Company, who lives in Hillsborough, often takes his family to Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in San Mateo.

Weekend dancing and entertainment tip at the Mountain View Caravan Inn: The Nob Hill Trio, and exotic Siva, who performs a "Belly Dance" to "Swim" time.

New Bus Schedules For Barney's

From the looks of the early crowds that are starting to invade the South Shore of Lake Tahoe, Nevada, this should be one of the greatest seasons of all time.

Being alert to the situation, Barney O'Malia, owner of thriving Barney's Casino, is increasing the Greyhound Bus service to his club so that those without automobile transportation may enjoy a short scenic holiday in "Keno" land.

A new daily schedule leaving San Francisco at 12 noon has been added to the well-established 8 p.m. run. Come May 5, another 12 noon departure on Tuesday will be available from the Santa Rosa Greyhound Bus Station.

Guests provide their own entertainment at Barney's Casino. Every known fun device that goes to make a Nevada visit exciting is at their fingertips. For relaxation, you will find two restaurants, a coffee shop, and two bars open 24 hours a day. On the Casino's upper level, discover "O'Houlihan's Hideout," a cozy, new room where free coffee is served at all hours.

For South Shore motel guests: Barney's Casino offers a free courtesy service which dispatches a comfortable bus to take you to and from your lodging headquarters.

The menu at Nick Gust's Pacifica restaurant is one of the most outstanding in every way that I have ever seen. Even if you aren't hungry, one peek at this and you develop an appetite.

CHICKEN AND FRENCH FRIES make an appetizing dinner, served easily with crisp cheese cracker crumbs alongside a tasty salad.

Chicken, French Fries for Dinner

All of us reach a point every now and then when we find it impossible to think of something to serve for dinner. This is the time to sit down and look through a few magazines, the newspaper food section and that drawer of recipes you've been hoarding — but not using, all year long. It's a good way to spark your imagination and renew interest in meal planning.

Ofttimes a new twist to an old favorite is enough to get you going again. Chicken, for instance, always a taste treat, is especially good if you roll it in crisp cheese cracker crumbs and parsley flakes before it's baked.

Partner the chicken with French fries — the easy frozen kind from a package. Fries like these always fit into your menu plans, always receive an enthusiastic reception. They're easily done by the new cold-start method, too, a method of frying that decreases odor, eliminates spattering and needs no special equipment. To prepare the frozen fries in this manner, arrange a single layer of the potato strips in a large skillet. Pour vegetable oil over to just cover and stir. Turn heat to medium high or, if an electric skillet, to 350 degrees and cook for about 10 to 12 minutes until browned. Turn heat off and remove potatoes to drain on paper towels. Season and serve. It's that easy.

Arrange the chicken and fries in the same dish if you wish, so folks can start right in, without having to pass a lot of plates. They'll be so eager to begin that they'll appreciate your thoughtfulness.

OVEN CHICKEN AND FRENCH FRIES

- 1 cup crushed cheese crackers
- ¼ cup parsley flakes
- 1 2½ to 3-pound chicken, cut up
- ½ cup butter, melted
- 1 1-pound package frozen French fried potatoes
- Salt

Combine cracker crumbs and parsley flakes. Dip chicken in melted butter and roll in crumbs. Arrange in a shallow baking pan in a single layer. Drizzle with any extra melted butter. Bake at 375 degrees for 40 minutes. Stack chicken to one side of pan and spread French fried potatoes in other side of pan. Sprinkle potatoes with salt. Turn oven to 425 degrees and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer or until potatoes are brown. Yield: 4 servings.

Exotic Dish For Hostess: A Beef Curry

Many a hostess planning a buffet supper for friends wants something just a bit exotic to serve.

Here's a suggestion for that different and delicious dish — Beef Curry Deluxe. Cubes of boneless beef are braised with curry and a mingling of other spices and herbs, tart apple and raisins.

In the oriental manner it's served over a mound of fluffy white rice. A home economist and meat expert suggests chut-d ney, finely chopped almonds and coconut might be served in separate bowls as accompaniment for the curry.

BEEF CURRY DELUXE

- 2 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 3 whole cloves
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 cup water
- 3 large tart apples (approximately 1 pound), cut in eighths
- 1 cup raisins
- Cooked rice, if desired

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add bay leaf, curry powder, cloves, sugar, onion, garlic and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 2 hours. Add apple wedges and raisins and continue cooking 45 minutes. Discard bay leaf, cloves and garlic. Serve beef curry over cooked rice, if desired. 6 servings.

FREEZER TIPS

This is the time for spring housecleaning in many homes. If you have a food freezer, perhaps you'll be thinking about checking its contents to see that you have rotated the foods. Here are the latest recommendations for maximum storage. Fresh pork may be kept from 3 to 6 months; lamb and veal, 6 to 9; beef, 6 to 12; ground beef, 3 to 4 months.

Sausage for Savory Veal Steak Rolls

You've probably served beef rolls made with round steak, but have you tried veal rolls made from veal round?

Sausage is the stuffing for the veal rolls in the recipe. It's seasoned with sage and chopped onion and combined with fine bread crumbs. The veal steaks, cut into individual servings, are rolled around the sausage mixture as a elly roll.

A meat cookery expert suggests adding chili sauce to the liquid in which the veal rolls are slowly cooked. This gives both the meat and gravy extra flavor elegance.

Sausage-Stuffed Veal Rolls

- 2 veal round steaks, cut ½ inch thick
- ½ pound fresh (bulk) pork sausage
- ¼ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon sage
- 2 teaspoons chopped onion
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon water
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ cup chili sauce
- ¼ cup water

Cut steaks into 6 serving pieces. Combine flour, salt, pepper and sage. Dredge steaks in seasoned flour and pound steaks until ¼ inch thick. Brown sausage and onion lightly. Pour off drippings. Combine sausage-onion mixture, bread crumbs and water. Place approximately ¼ cup sausage mixture on each piece of steak. Roll as a jelly roll and fasten with wooden picks. Brown rolls in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine chili sauce and ¼ cup water and add to veal rolls. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until meat is done. 4 to 6 servings.

SUNDAY-BRUNCH PUFFS—So quick and easy to serve this Sunday.

Sunday Brunch Puffs a Treat

For a quick and easy Sunday brunch try this delicious combination of chicken and ham. These two go-togethers simmered in a rich cream sauce and served in tender flaky patty shells are sure to make a hit with the family.

SUNDAY-BRUNCH PUFFS

- 1 package frozen patty shells
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups cooked diced ham
- 1 cup cooked diced chicken
- ½ cup sliced olives
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley

Prepare patty shells according to package directions.

In saucepan, melt butter or margarine, then blend in flour. Gradually add milk and stir until mixture thickens. Add remaining ingredients. Heat thoroughly, about five minutes. Spoon into warm patty shells and garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

A Wise Use Of Leftover Lamb Roast

Planned meat leftovers can be a wise investment. Next time why not purchase a leg of lamb or other lamb roast large enough for two meals. This will enable you to prepare this savory "Lamb Follow-Up" entree.

The cooked lamb is diced, then combined with cooked noodles and dressed with a tomato sauce. It's seasoned with caraway and garlic and baked for 30 minutes in a moderate oven to make a perfect follow-up dish for Sunday's roast.

A meat authority says that proper cooking is important for juicy, tender cooked meats. The secret for roasting a leg of lamb is to use a slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees F.

Wrap leftover meat closely and store in the coldest part of the refrigerator or in the area designed for meat storage.

Lamb Follow-Up

- 2 cups diced cooked lamb
- 1 can 10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
- ¼ cup water
- ½ teaspoon caraway seed
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups cooked noodles
- 4 green pepper rings, cut ⅛ inch thick
- ¼ cup grated American cheese

Mix together soup and water. Add lamb, caraway seed, garlic salt, salt and noodles. Pour into a greased 1½-quart casserole. Place green pepper rings on top and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. 6 servings.

SENIOR CITIZEN'S DIET

Through research it has been established that many older people in our society consume a high carbohydrate, low-protein diet. Protein requirements do not vary that greatly between the younger and older person even though calorie needs will differ. Therefore senior citizens should be aware of the importance of meat in their diet . . . meat being one of the main sources of high quality protein.

Your Toddler Learning at Dinner Table

When mothers of toddlers get together the conversation eventually gets around to the topic of food. It's "Suzy eats everything with her fingers" or "Bobby just won't try any new foods."

Of course if you're a mother your're interested in what your child eats. One of your most important assignments as a mother is the building and caring for your child's health.

A meat expert suggests that it's wise to remember that for your little ones learning to eat is an entirely new experience just like taking those first steps.

Children finger their food to know how it feels. Kattie may balk when you introduce a new food. It may have a different feeling in her mouth from those foods with which she is acquainted.

MINUTE BEEF PATTIES

There are several ways to help your child enjoy his meals. Make sure, first of all, that he can handle the meat servings you give him. If you're having beef patties make several tiny patties for him.

A preschooler can easily handle meat loaf, crisp bacon, tiny braised meat cubes, canned luncheon meat cut into cubes or meat spread on bread or crackers.

Here's another point to remember. When you're serving your child's plate give him a small portion. If he wants more to eat let him ask for a second helping.

A colorful centerpiece such as spring flowers or a smal pot of tulips can be a conversation piece at the table. Bright place mats and napkins lend a gay touch to meal time, also.

Occasioally why not let your youngsters join the grownups for a candlelight dinner? This can be a fascinating experience for the preschooler.

HERE'S A LIVELY DIP to launch the first of the spring season's parties. Canned onion dry soup mix is the magic ingredient. In bowl, gradually blend 1 pint sour cream into ¼ pound liverwurst (mashed) until smooth. Stir in a 1⅝-ounce can onion dry soup mix. Chill and serve with crackers. Makes 2 cups dip.

Give Your Soup for Lunch" spring airs like this: Blend a can (10½ ounces) each condensed cream of asparagus and cream of celery soups with 1½ soup cans water. Stir in 1 cup salmon (flaked) and ½ teaspoon lemon rind. Heat, stirring now and then. Lovely addition to a warm weather luncheon for 4.

EVERYONE will warm to Texas Green Beans: In saucepan, cook 2 slices bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. In bacon drippings, cook 1 medium onion (sliced) and ⅛ teaspoon basil until onion is tender. Add a 10¾-ounce can condensed tomato rice soup, ½ cup water, 1 teaspoon vinegar, and a 10-ounce package frozen cut green beans. Cover; cook over low heat about 25 minutes or until beans are tender. Stir now and then. Sprinkle bacon on top.
